FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Axalta Announces 100th Installation of Fully Automated Axalta Irus Mix Machine for Automotive Refinish Industry

Milestone reinforces company's commitment to helping customers drive their productivity

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. – JULY 19 2024 – Axalta (NYSE: AXTA), a leading global coatings company, today announced the installation of its 100th Axalta Irus Mix, a fast and efficient fully automated and completely hands-free mixing machine for the automotive refinish industry. The installation took place in France at Bodyshop Carenove, who has used Standox, one of Axalta's premium automotive refinish brands, for more than 20 years.

Axalta Irus Mix enables collision repair shops to deliver high-speed mixing of refinish paint systems for improved productivity that maximizes profitability. The machine is simple to operate and removes bottlenecks in the collision repair shop because it frees up painters and boosts capacity, while providing highly accurate color.

"Axalta Irus Mix was designed specifically to help our customers meet or exceed their business goals by maximizing their profitability and minimizing their environmental impact," said Troy Weaver, President of Global Refinish at Axalta. "Installing our 100th machine further reinforces our commitment to helping our customers do business better through improved efficiencies and technology."

Lionel Tiberghien, Deputy Director General of SEPAMAP, the parent company of Bodyshop Carenove, said, "Axalta Irus Mix is a great step forward in modernization and an excellent investment for us. It is delivering not only cutting-edge innovation but also demonstrating improved efficiency. Axalta Irus Mix supports our commitment to helping reduce our environmental impact as it eliminates product waste and its proven bottle system is made from 50% recycled plastic. Axalta Irus Mix truly is a revelation."

Axalta Irus Mix recently received a 2024 Edison Award™ for Innovation in the Environmental and Industrial Solutions category.
