Axalta's 2022 Global Automotive Color Popularity Report Marks 70th Year of Providing Industry Insights

Data shows that neutral colors continue to remain popular.

Axalta Coating Systems (NYSE: AXTA), a leading global coatings company, has released its 70th annual Global Automotive Color Popularity Report, which revealed the top three automotive colors of 2022: white, black, and gray. First published in 1953, Axalta's annual color popularity report is the automotive industry's longest running and most comprehensive color account.

"Today's vehicles are more vibrant than ever," said Robert Schnell, Vice President, Global Sales & Product Management, Axalta. "For example, compared to the white color variations of the 1950s, these whites are brighter and beam with iridescent flakes. Together vehicles in white, black, gray, and silver add up to 82% of cars on the road today."

Globally, white shades held the lead (34% total) with pearlescent whites at 14% popularity and solid whites at 20%. Next, deep black colors radiate with sparkling effects and total 21% of vehicles on the road. And gray colors (19%) had sparkling effects in an assortment of colorful hues. Overall, colorful variations of blue (8%), red (5%) and green (1%) were found with high color intensity and complex sparkling effects.
