We know how important coatings are to enhancing the image of a brand. Wherever you are on the globe, Axalta Coating Systems is there to provide coatings solutions that offer excellent product performance. Our paints are backed by highly skilled, dedicated technical resources. Around the world, we support our customers whether they have issues with their processes or need help with the paint system.

We offer a range of water-based and solvent-borne paint systems, Imron® and Centari®, that cover the entire colour and technology performance range. They are all environmental responsible and low in VOC emissions.

Our expertise in different application methods from automatic pneumatic guns to electrostatic bell applications is always at your service. We also assist with multiple flexible logistic solutions, such as our mixing machine concept. These paints are not only available for OEMs, but also for refinish use, and are based on the same technology.
